U.S. - Mass. - Boston
94, BT

BOSTON INDUSTRIAL HOME

THIRTIETH ANNUAL REPORT

Wood and Coal Department

This Trade Mark is a guarantee of the Best Quality Coal and Wood at Lowest Wharf Prices, with Best Service and Prompt Delivery.

TESTIMONIALS

DEAR SIRS:

I wish again to bear testimony to the faithful and polite service of the men sent to put my winter's supply of coal in. The work was well and carefully done. I never had better service.

(Signed) SAMUEL N. RYDER, 137 School St., Roxbury.

DEAR SIRS:

The people I have bought coal from in the past have sent me men that were distasteful to me. I must admit the change is agreeable to me, as every man you have sent here has been a gentleman in action and speech.

(Signed) MRS. HEBBARD, 122 Huntington Avenue.

THE PROFITS ARE APPLIED TO THE WORK OF HELPING UNFORTUNATE, HOMELESS MEN

THIRTIETH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

BOSTON INDUSTRIAL HOME

(Incorporated)

Corner Davis Street and Harrison Avenue

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1907

ESTABLISHED 1877

The Boston Industrial Home

(1908)

Board of Directors

Rufus G. F. Candage	President.
George W. Fowle	Vice President.
Charles D. Bagnall	Treasurer.
Robert W. Hastings, M.D.	Secretary.

Rev. Herbert A. Barker.
Lyman B. Brooks.
John H. Colby.
James M. Douglass.
Freeman O. Emerson.
Rev. Arthur H. Gordon.
Charles H. Stearns.

Corporate Members

Rev. William Bradley.
Rev. Henry A. Cooke.
George W. Fowle.
R. G. F. Candage.
Richard W. Cone.
Rev. N. Boynton.
Lyman B. Brooks.
William Appleton, Jr.
Rev. S. Stanley Searing.
Abram P. Downs.
O. M. Wentworth.
Robert W. Hastings.
Charles H. Stearns.
Charles D. Bagnall.
Rev. Arthur H. Gordon.
John H. Colby.
Rev. Allen A. Stockdale.
Rev. W. T. McElveen, Ph.D.
Rev. Rufus B. Tobey.
Herbert D. Boyd, M.D.
Charles W. Perkins.
Frank K. Linscott.
Arthur W. Sawyer.
Rev. James M. Gray.
Rev. Samuel Lane Loomis.
Rev. Sumner W. Shearman.
Rev. George L. Perin.
Freeman O. Emerson.
George W. Coleman.
Isaac C. Stone.
Rev. J. A. McElwain, D.D.
Rev. M. R. Deming.
William Owen.
Rev. Herbert A. Barker.
George A. Hibbard.
James M. Douglass.
Charles R. Darling.
Leonard H. Rhodes.
Miss Anna Bradley.
Charles A. Schmitt.

Oliver C. Elliot, Superintendent.
Herbert D. Boyd, M.D., Visiting Physician.
Mrs. A. E. Wright, Matron.

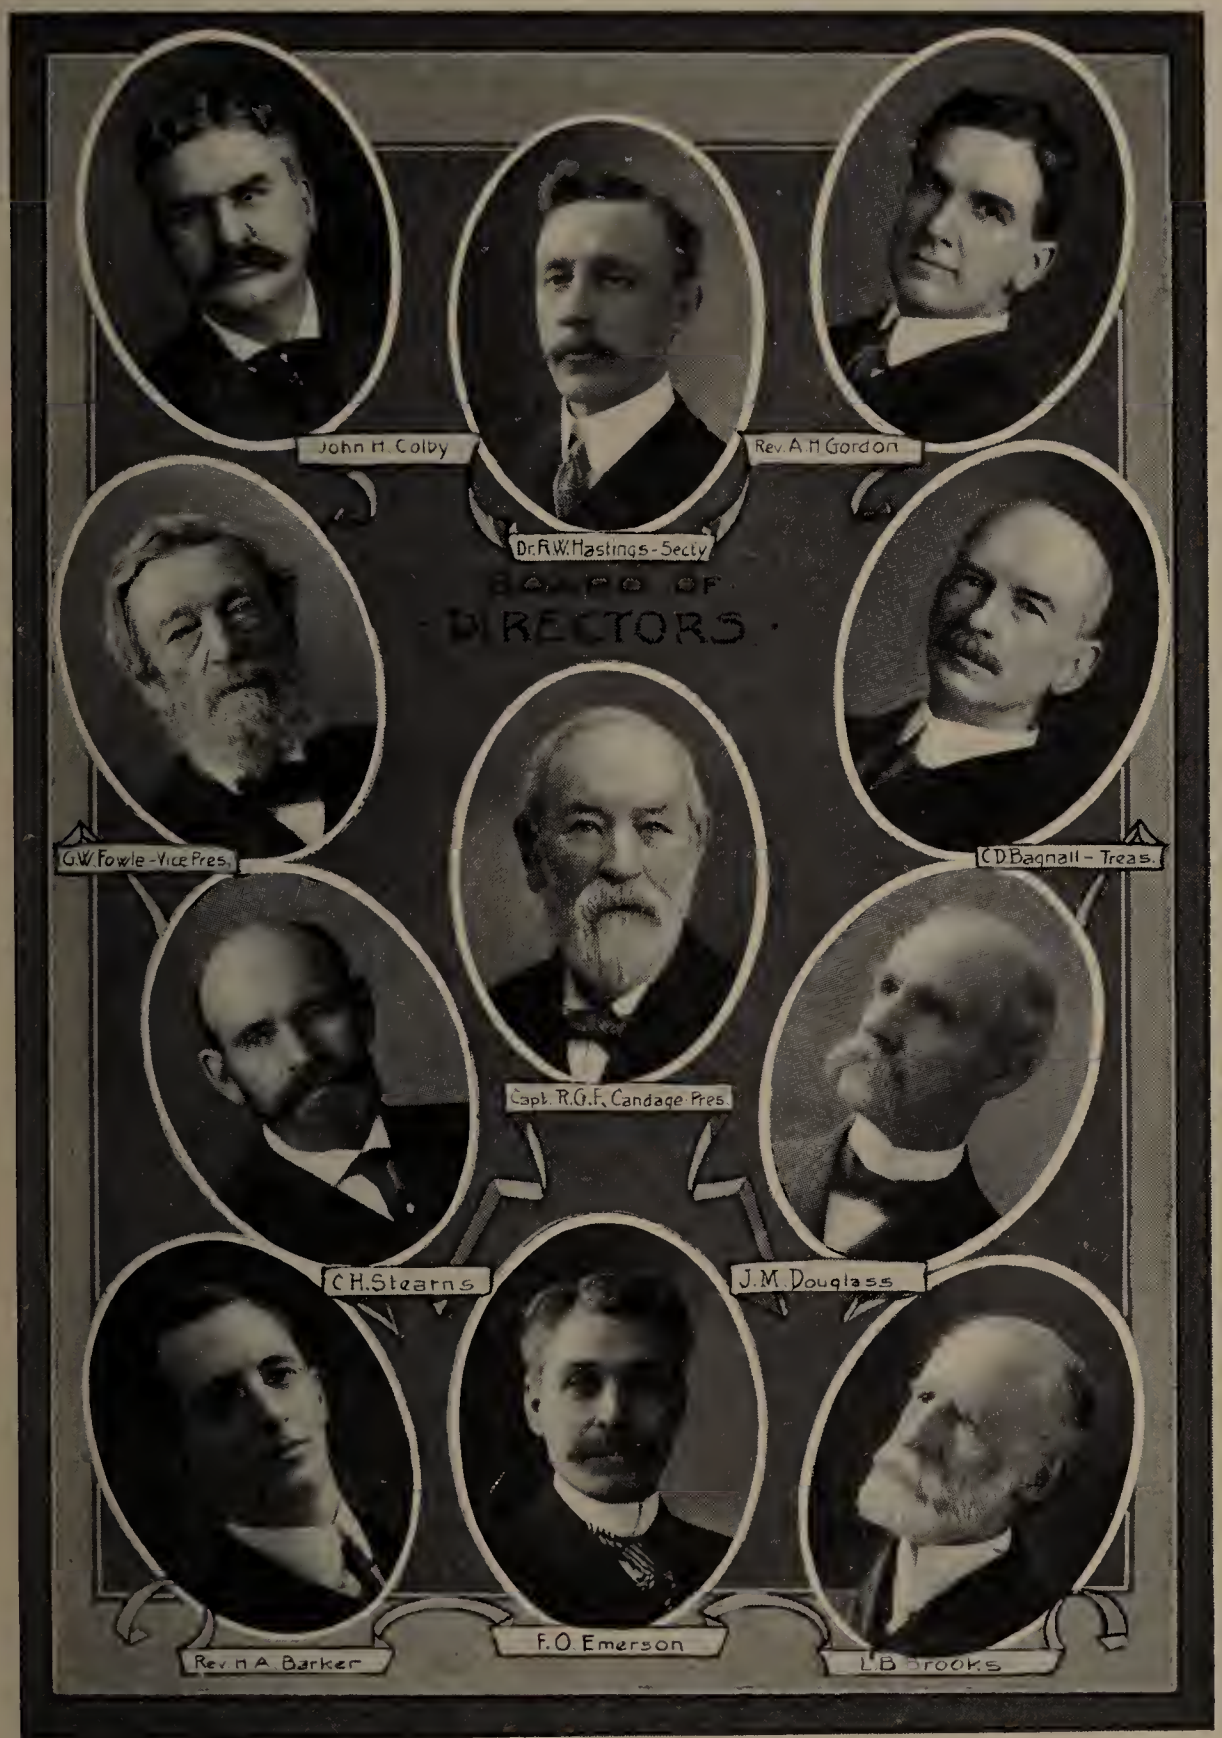
Superintendent Elliot will visit churches, Sunday schools and societies to present the work on request.



John H. Colby
Dr. R.W. Hastings - Secty
Rev. A.H. Gordon BOARD OF DIRECTORS
G.W. Fowle - Vice Pres.
C.D. Bagnall - Treas.
Capt. R.G.F. Candage Pres.
C.H. Stearns
J.M. Douglass
Rev. H.A. Barker
F.O. Emerson
L.B. Brooks

President's Address

The work of the year past, notwithstanding the financial depression, has been maintained with usual vigor and success at the Home for the aid, help and uplifting of those who have sought its shelter. For an account of that part of the work you are referred to the report of your able and efficient Superintendent, Mr. Oliver C. Elliot.

At the last annual meeting of the corporation Mr. Charles D. Bagnall, who has been Assistant Treasurer for a number of years, was elected Treasurer. I am happy to state that he has performed the duties of that office to the satisfaction of the Board of Trustees. To his report of the finances of the corporation your attention is called.

In the year past the Home has had paid over to its treasury the Potter bequest of nearly $20,000, to be administered in accordance with the provisions of the will, the interest thereof to be expended for a Fresh Air Benefit to members of the Home. This is the second largest donation the Home has ever received, and it is to be desired and hoped that others will follow in due season.

The Master hath said, "The poor ye have with you always," and to relieve the wants of a class unable to gain a start for themselves alone, the Home was instituted and is being carried on. With more funds more could be accomplished for the class for which the Home was organized, therefore, we call attention to its needs, that those that have means to give by will or otherwise may remember the Home to aid it and be sharers in its work with us. We particularly ask the public to examine into the work the Home is doing, and to give it such countenance and aid as in their judgment it may merit.

While the Home has carried on its work of providing food and shelter for its inmates, their moral and spiritual welfare has not been neglected. Through religious meetings held at the Home, talks, lectures, musicales and other uplifting influences, the inmates have had opportunity for improvement in mental, moral and religious growth, or at least there has been seed planting, which is to be hoped may lead to growth among them.

However hard and earnestly we and the officers of the Home may labor to promote the good of its inmates in the temporal work, unless there is a determination on their part aided by Divine Providence, we shall feel that little has been accomplished, for the saving of a soul is more than meat, drink, shelter and clothing; it is turning one from the way of death into life, in which the agency of the Holy Spirit must be invoked. We may be permitted to plant and water, but a higher power must give the increase.

We still cling to the hope that means will be provided ere long for a new and better building in which to carry on our work, to come from a generous public. The work is that of the public, which we as managers have been intrusted to carry forward under Providence, and which in the name of the Master we unhesitatingly present, giving the Lord praise for successes of the past, and earnestly beseeching him to continue the work.

It is our duty to do our best with the means within our grasp, to carry forward the work of the Home, proclaim its needs to the public, and rest our case with Him who rules the hearts of men to be generous to the poor and needy. The Master came to earth to seek and to save the lost, and to call, not the righteous, but sinners to repentance. Therefore, whosoever aideth in the work shall not lose his reward, but shall receive the commendation of "good and faithful servant."

R. G. F. CANDAGE,
President.

DINING ROOM.

Superintendent's Report

The Boston Industrial Home is now a thirty years' demonstration of the practicability and efficiency of the industrial factor in Rescue Mission work. The idea is obtaining extensively that in the attempted assistance to the unfortunate, the friendless, the derelict and the outcast, the best results are to be realized by "helping men to help themselves," I believe it has become a fixed conclusion in the minds of those who have studied this great problem that any system of relief for dependents and delinquents which is not based on the principle of self-help is a detriment rather than a benefit. The philosophy of our work is: The man who has fallen to the foot of life's ladder from whatever cause, if he desire to do better, and is willing to work, is entitled to the chance. This is true from every possible standpoint, and must be approved even by those who regard the question purely from the viewpoint of social economy. The man without a home, without employment, without visible means of support is a burden upon and a menace to society. Helping him to help himself brings him to Christ, and delivers him from this category.

O. C. ELLIOT, Supt.

Chapel Service.

It is easy to state concisely purely material results. Figures, however, cannot express the vital part of a work which is moral, spiritual and educational, and which has been crowned with a success that fully establishes the soundness of the principles on which the Home is founded.

The Home does not profess to be a general employment agency for men, nor does it give employment in the ordinary business sense. It is a refuge for the repentant prodigal who has "come to himself," and is ready to say, "I will arise and go to my Father." The employment given is a material aid to a spiritual end.

RELIGIOUS WORK

We consider everything subordinate to the spiritual work. If we merely for a time lodge, feed and clothe a man, sending him from us with no loftier aim or incentive than the necessities which brought him to us, he is sure to go back to the old life and the old wants, and our efforts, care and money have been spent largely in vain. One hundred and seventy-two meetings were held in the chapel during the year. The talks are adapted to the needs of the men and women who gather. We have the testimony of many who came to us homeless, friendless and hopeless that they have found a Saviour in Christ. Through him they have been changed to self-supporting, self-respecting men, restored to their earthly and Heavenly birthright.

MRS. GUY F. JONES,
Gospel Soloist.

Time will not permit even a catalogue of names of conspicuous examples of men who have found Christ and deliverance in this Home. In fact it has been our custom of late years not to exploit the experience of those who come to us.

I cannot say enough in praise of the excellent service rendered by our gospel soloist, Mrs. Guy F. Jones, of Somerville. Gifted with a voice beautifully adapted for gospel work, with a splendid Christian character, and an intense love for service, this young lady has sung the gospel to our people with marked effect. Many a heart has been touched and softened by her sweet voice, and what her work with us has counted for the past year can never be told by human lips. Mr. F. L. Foss, of the Clarendon Street Baptist Church, has conducted the Thursday evening meetings the past winter. Rev. John A. McElwain, D.D., Rev. Allen A. Stockdale, Rev. Arthur H. Gordon, Rev. Herbert A. Barker, Rev. C. P. Pledger, the Boylston Congregational Church Y. P. S. C. E., and many other ministers and laymen have assisted in our religious work, for which we are grateful.

STATISTICS

LODGINGS

Number of lodgings furnished to men	30,887
" " " women	9,487
Total number of lodgings furnished to men and women	40,374

Of this number 14,180 men worked for their lodgings, 15,088 paid in cash, and 1,619 came on orders.

MEALS

Number of meals furnished to men	36,341
" " " women	8,792
Total number of meals furnished to men and women	45,133

Of this number 33,587 meals were earned, 1,162 were paid for in cash, and 1,592 were given on orders.

WOOD YARD.

DAYS' WORK

Number of days' work provided for men . . .	14,180
" " " " women . . .	1,647
Total number of days' work provided for men and women	15,827

BATHS

Total baths to men	5,051
" " women	905
Total number of baths to men and women . . .	5,956
The number of persons whose clothing was in such a condition as to demand an application of our steam sterilizing process was	939

A PAGE FROM THE REGISTER

In order to form an idea as to the class of men who come to us we submit the following facts from one page of the Register :—

Total number of men lodged, 89. Thirty-two Americans, 11 Scotch, 7 Canadians, 9 English, 20 Irish, 3 Germans, 1 French, 1 Italian, 1 Negro, 1 Austrian, 1 Brazilian, 1 Hebrew.

Religion : 48 Catholics, 40 Protestants and 1 Hebrew.

Average age, 38 years. Married 44, single 45.

Trades and Occupations : Actor, Painter, Paper Stainer, Lime Burner, Insurance Agent, Motorman, Journalist, Whitesmith, Plasterer, Roofer, Electrician, Engineer, Janitor, Oculist, Wood Turner, Tentmaker, Cigarmaker, Peddler, Lather, Hospital Steward, Seaman, Artist, Telegraph Operator, Clothing Salesman, Druggist, Confectioner, Baker, Marine, Mattress Maker, Barber, Waiter, Steward, Stenographer.

Women. Total lodged, 30. Twelve Americans, 9 Irish, 2 English, 3 Canadians, 2 Scotch, 1 German and 1 French.

Occupations : Housework 12, Cooks 3, Kitchen Work 4, Laundry 4, Tailoress 2, Nurse 1, Seamstress 2.

Married 13, single 16. Average age 39 years. Catholics 16, Protestants 13.

Nothing is less helpful, in fact, nothing is more harmful to men than to allow them to depend on an institution a moment longer than is necessary for their good; hence, men are urged to seek, and assisted as far as possible, in getting permanent employment. During the past year about four hundred men were provided with work, temporary and permanent, outside the Home. Many of these men we are in close touch with, and know that they are living upright lives, thus showing the fruits of this work.

One of the most difficult problems that confronts us in this work is what to do with the man just from the hospital, from whence he has come relieved but convalescent. He is unable to work, without money or friends. Many of these cases are most worthy but, of course, their condition and circumstances make them ineligible for admittance here or at any other institution in the city except Long Island. During the past year about six hundred lodgings and meals were given to such cases, for which there was no return.

A COZY CORNER.

WOMEN'S SITTING ROOM.

I want to express our deep appreciation of the splendid service rendered us the past year by our physician, Dr. Herbert D. Boyd. We had considerable sickness among our people and a few deaths, but in each instance the doctor responded promptly and efficiently, many times getting the patient into the Homeopathic Hospital where the best of care was given without charge to the Home. The doctor's report will cover the Dispensary work, which has been maintained as usual.

THE WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

The work among the women the past year has been most satisfactory. It is understood, I believe, that our object is to furnish comfortable quarters and the privileges of the Home for working women at a nominal expense. We have accommodations for about thirty, and our Matron, Mrs. A. E. Wright, has done much good amongst them. They attend the services, respect the necessary discipline of the Home, and by their conduct manifest an appreciation of its helpfulness and privileges. We were enabled to place a large number of women in positions outside the Home the past year.

THANKSGIVING AND CHRISTMAS

We observed the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons as usual. Through the uniform generosity of the hotel proprietors and our many friends we were able to provide a sumptuous turkey dinner for upward of three hundred persons on Thanksgiving Day. On Christmas eve each inmate received a useful gift in the shape of wearing apparel, and some of the trusted employees gold pieces as an expression of appreciation for service rendered. The expense attending this special annual feature of the work was covered by special contributions.

ENTERTAINMENTS

We have found our stereopticon very useful for entertainment purposes. The Hon. J. Wilder Fairbank favored us with "The Shepherd King," and "In His Steps." Mr. George R. King gave us "A Trip through the Far West," beautifully illustrated. Mr. L. A Whitaker provided an attractive motion picture program interspersed with illustrated songs. In each instance our stereopticon was used, the lecturer very kindly contributing the use of the pictures and the talk. The Boylston Church Y. P. S. C. E. furnished a delightful vocal and instrumental concert on December 19th.

BECOMING SELF-SUPPORTING.

THE INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

It must be borne in mind that the primary object of the work is to rescue men; and subordinate to that, to make the industrial department bear as large a part of the expense as possible. We are equipped to prosecute the coal and wood business in a thoroughly up-to-date manner; our horses, six in number, are well kept, and everything pertaining to wagons, harness, etc , receive the strictest care and attention. At the work-horse parade last year three of our horses were entered as exhibits, and each was awarded a prize for excellent condition and the evidence of good care. The profits accruing from the sales of wood and coal are applied to the maintenance of the work, and we cannot urge too strongly that our friends and the public generally patronize us when in need of fuel.

In conclusion let me say the past year has been in every sense of the term a successful one. The reformatory work has shown splendid results and we have been able to do more for men than ever before. There are, as might be expected, many reasons for discouragement in such a work. Men whom you put confidence in stumble and fall just when you feel sure of them. But after all it is not strange that they fall. Indeed, it is stranger when men, who for years have been given over to drink or other vicious habits, suddenly, abruptly abandon them, do not fall. This is not depreciating the power of God, nor placing a premium on lapses. It is simply recognizing a fact. I am deeply sensible of and profoundly grateful for the confidence and kind consideration accorded myself and family by the President and each member of the Board, and pledge all that is in me to the furtherance of this great work in the year which has just begun. Not forgetting to ascribe to our Heavenly Father all the glory and praise for whatever measure of success has attended our efforts the past year, and invoking his abiding, comforting presence and sustaining hand in the days to come.

OLIVER C. ELLIOT,

Superintendent.

A Communication

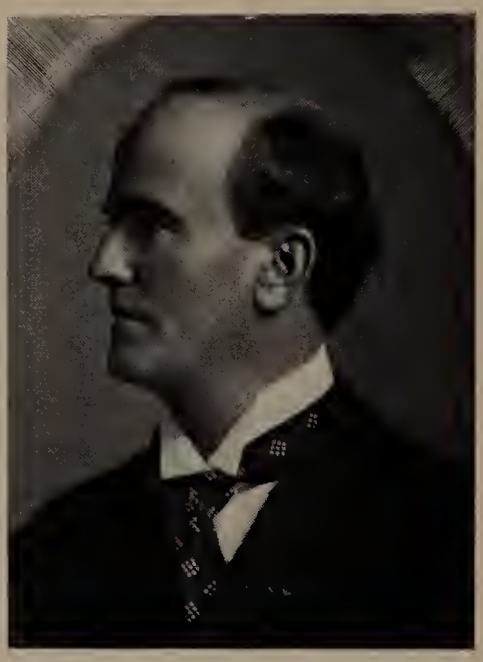
SINGAPORE, PROVINCE OF JOHORE, MALAY PENINSULA,
October, 1907.

MR. O. C. ELLIOT,

Superintendent, Boston Industrial Home, Boston, Mass.

MY DEAR MR. ELLIOT: Although far from you, in a foreign land and distant clime, my thoughts are of you and your noble work. Impelled by these thoughts I cannot resist an impulse to write you.

It is well-nigh on to eight years ago since I first entered the doors of the old Home. How well do I remember it. How could I ever forget it. It was one of the saddest nights I have ever known. On arriving in Boston, what little money I had was soon spent in wild and desperate excesses. In the vain hope of tempting fortune to smile on me I took to gambling, the twin evil of drinking, and both being the mainstay and life's blood of the desperate man I had then become. It is the old story told over and over again. Necessity had now become my master. I was eating the bitter bread of sad experience. For days I wandered about the streets without tasting food, going from place to place asking for employment but always receiving a negative reply. Many a night the starry canopy of heaven alone covered me, while the soft sighings of the night winds lulled me to sleep. Not a line of light or a ray of hope remained. What was I to do? Destroy myself? That would only overshadow my future existence with a useless remorse. One night being worn and spent, walking aimlessly about, some merciful Providence directed my footsteps down Davis Street. On passing the Home I saw a lighted sign which read, "Lodgings and meals in return for work." Being by nature singularly vain and morbidly sensitive I hesitated about entering. The dominating weakness of self-sufficiency was never more pointedly indicated.



D. J. HAYES.

My desperate condition, at this time, forced me to set to the side all other considerations and to sacrifice on the altar of self-preservation my self-pride. It was in this frame of mind that I carried my exhausted body and wounded spirit through the doors of your institution. My heart throbbed with feverish anxiety lest I should be met with refusal. My fears were soon set at rest. Instead of frowning looks were bright and cheering smiles. In the place of words of blame were words of comfort. I was told the past was dead, the future loomed brightly before me. That evening I attended service in the chapel, the first time in many years. It resurrected the memories of other and happier times, of boyhood's sunny hours. Words of good advice were spoken. Long forgotten hymns were sung again. At the end of the service a general invitation was extended to all who were world weary and heavy ladened to come forward. I went. It was you, my friend, that shook my hand so warmly, spoke to me so kindly, and looked on me so friendly, striving the while to make me forget my distressing position. "The greatest object in the universe" said a certain philosopher, "is a good man struggling with adversity," yet, there is still greater, which is the good man that comes to relieve it. That night after a refreshing bath I was given a clean night-gown and assigned a bed. In a few days I was given employment. Far out on the horizon of my line of life I saw the dawning of a better day. I need not remind you of the weeks and months that I spent within the confines of the old Home, nor need I recall to your mind how the outcast from the brother of man had become a respected citizen of your Commonwealth.

Full many a poor fellow have I seen come to the institution in the same condition that I came—it always opened wide its doors to him, and with extended hand received him. He has gone his way, as I have gone, asking blessings to be showered upon the heads of these good men whose principal efforts were earnestly directed toward the elevating of stranded wrecks on either side of the stream of time.

After life's fitful fever may they all sleep well.

Yours gratefully,

D. J. Hayes.

Note.—We are pleased to publish this unsolicited letter (by permission) from Mr. Donald J. Hayes, who is now occupying a lucrative government position in Manila. Mr. Hayes had charge of our Wood and Coal Department for several years, and his going was a matter of deep regret to the Directors, Superintendent, and all who knew his sterling qualities.

A DORMITORY.

The Dispensary

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT

The physician's report for the year 1907 differs little from reports of preceding years. Our work is somewhat circumscribed, and runs in grooves. We have had the usual number of cases to deal with, medical, surgical and obstetrical.

Many acute cases came to us, some of which we treated at the Home. Others were sent to the hospital, and had the best of care and nursing, medically and surgically, through the kindness of Dr. William O. Mann, Superintendent of the Massachusetts Homœopathic Hospital. Mr. Marsh, one of our oldest employees, was thus nursed and cared for until the end.

In our labor here, however, we have to do more often with chronic conditions, the result of excesses, malnutrition and bad environment. These cases come to us for food and rest. They are tired mentally and physically, many of them nervous, trembling wrecks from abuse of alcohol. We try to build them up, so that they may regain their mental balance, and with the help of work and encouragement, start anew the battle of life. Oftentimes we can do no more than give them one or two square meals before they leave us, and pass again into the flotsam and jetsam and are lost to view.

What we need in this Industrial Work is a place where we can send some of the more promising of these wrecks, and have them timbered and strengthened sufficiently to withstand the storms of temptation and vice which assail them; not merely patch them up, as we have to do now, and send them out to flounder when the first storm strikes them.

We ought to have a farm where we could carry on our work much as it is conducted here, that is, by giving, not charity, but a chance to work to the man who is down and who wants to come back. In the country he could have good air and sunshine, plenty of fresh milk, eggs and vegetables, and be able to spend a month or more in building up. Then if he had the will, determination and pluck to do right, he would have the physical strength to support him. I do not mean to extend this opportunity to all, but only to selected cases. If we started a dozen a year right, it would be worth while.

HERBERT D. BOYD,
Visiting Physician.

Report of Receipts and Expenditures of the Boston Industrial Home for Year 1907.

Dr.		Cr.
Cash on hand Jan. 1, 1907	$1,436 93	Deposited in Savings Bank March 30	$500 00
" from Sale of Coal and Wood	37,381 33	Paid for Coal and Wood	29,569 98
" " Persons aided	4,346 49	" " Provisions and Groceries	3,557 66
" " Bequests	718 92	" " House Repairs and Improvements	718 08
" Withdrawn from Savings Bank	400 00	" " " Supplies and Refurnishing	463 09
" from Donations	302 10	" " Stable Expense (maintenance)	1,721 27
" " Interest on Mortgage	225 00	" " " " (new equipment)	354 50
" " " " Deposits	42 20	" " Gas and Electric Light	389 22
		" " Telephone Service	136 43
		" " Water Tax and Insurance	403 80
		" " Medical Expense	31 92
		" " Salaries Supt. and Officers	1,550 00
		" " Labor Employees and Transients	4,925 00
		" " Printing and Stationery	229 55
		" " Carfares and Postage	198 97
		Balance, Cash on hand Jan. 1, 1908	103 50
	$44,852 97		$44,852 97

CHAS. D. BAGNALL, Treasurer.

We have examined the accounts of the Boston Industrial Home and find the same correctly cast and the proper vouchers on file.

We have also examined the securities and found the same as reported by the Treasurer.

FREEMAN O. EMERSON,
JAMES M. DOUGLASS, } Auditing Committee.

Memoranda of Invested Funds

General Fund.

Mortgage 5%	$4,500 00
Deposited in Savings Bank	105 00
		$4,605 00

Fresh Air Fund.

Bonds and Securities	$18,045 61
Deposit, City Trust Co.	1,725 79
		19,771 40

Kidder Fund.

5% Bond cost	$981 00
Deposits in Savings Banks	3,282 43
" " City Trust Co.	194 79
		4,458 22
Total Funds		$28,834 62

Visiting Committee

(1908)

May

Lyman B. Brooks. Rev. Rufus B. Tobey.

June

Rev. Arthur H. Gordon. Rev. George L. Perin.

July

Charles D. Bagnall. George W. Coleman.

August

George W. Fowle. William Owen.

September

Freeman O. Emerson. Arthur W. Sawyer.

October

Charles H. Stearns. Rev. Allen A. Stockdale.

November

Rev. Herbert A. Barker. O. M. Wentworth.

December

James M. Douglass. Isaac C. Stone.

(1909)

January

Rufus G. F. Candage. Rev. John A. McElwain.

February

John H. Colby. Charles R. Darling.

March

Robert W. Hastings. Abram P. Downs.

April

Rev. S. Stanley Searing. L. H. Rhodes.

Donors of Merchandise, Provisions, etc.

(1907)

Alger, F. J.
Always Faithful Boys Class
(Roslindale Cong'l Church)
Brown, Harry
Carter, Rice Co.
Chase & Sanborn
Comer, D. M.
Crawford House
French, Mitchell & Woodbury
Hall, Martin L. Co.
Haynes, L. C.
Hotel Bellevue
Hotel Brunswick
Hotel Lenox
Hotel Vendome
Hotel Woodcock
Johnson, H. A.
Kenneson, E. S.
Knight, S. B.
McAuliffe, J.
Nash & Hopkins
Needlewoman's Guild of America
Oakdale Manfg. Co.
Oriental Tea Co.
Parker House
Rhodes Brothers
Schmitt, Charles A.
Stickney & Poor
Swain, Earle Co.
Yeager, F.
Waite, C. A.

Donors of Cash

(1907)

Ball, Dr. W. D.
Batchelder, Dr. F. P.
Beal, Mrs. H. L.
Best, J. P.
Boland, Dr. E. S.
Brooks, Lyman B.
Brown, Samuel N.
Campbell, W. P.
Colby, John H.
Coleman, George W.
Connor, Mrs. Lucy S.
Coolidge, John T.
Coolidge, T. Jefferson, Jr.
Crosby, S. & Son
Darling, Charles R.
Duffill, John H.
Duncan, Mrs. S. M. F.
Eager, Mrs. George H.
Emerson, D. R. & Co.
Fay, Miss S. M.
Fitzgerald, Hon. John F. (Mayor)
Fowle, George W.
Gay, Mrs. A.
Hall, C. P.
Heath, William S.
Howe, Mrs. Julia Ward
Johnson, W. H.
Jones, Mrs. O. N.
Kidner, Rev. R.
Klous, M. H.
Loring, Stratton D.
Lovejoy, Ida
Lovejoy, Ida G.
Moran, Mrs. Albert
Murphy, C. J.
Perry, Arthur
Peters, F. A.
Rubin, Jacob
Sears, Mrs. F. R., Jr.
Sears, George O.
Stearns, Charles H.
Stockdale, Rev. A. A.
Tobey, Walter H., M.D.
Todd, Rev. James, D.D.
Wentworth, O. M.
Wood, Frank
Woods, Mrs. H.

Form of Bequest

I give and bequeath to the Boston Industrial Home the sum of.....dollars, for the purposes for which the institution was established; which is, to furnish a temporary home, with its comforts, to those destitute of friends, money, and out of employment; also, the reformation of the intemperate, etc.

NOTICE

Cast-off Clothing for men and women is always very necessary in our work. We will gladly send for packages upon notification.

☞ Garments sent to us will be given away to deserving persons, and Not Sold.

ANA WOOD
CHESTER BOROUGH